1. Why You Need Customer Development - Lean Customer ...

Customer development is a formal methodology for building startups and new corporate ventures. It is one of the three parts that make up a lean startup. The process assumes that early ventures have untested hypotheses about their business model. Customer development starts with the key idea that there are no facts inside your building so get outside to test them. The hypotheses testing emulates the scientific method – pose a business model hypothesis, design an experiment, get out of the ...

Customer development - Wikipedia

Customer development is the portion of the Lean Startup methodology aimed at understanding the problem. This requires first fully vetting the opportunity and validating that the proposed solution will indeed meet customer needs and demand. Customer development runs counter to typical product development processes that begin with the ideal solution in mind and dive right into execution.
